The Library Academic Affairs

The Library continued to remotely support Dar Al – Hekma students and faculty. It also kept providing its users with awareness programs through:

- Sending many emails about all local and international initiatives and provided many free electronic books to its users for free and meaningful reading.
- Sending announcements about lectures, seminars, and workshops in Arabic and English such as:

In English

- Leading Remote Teams during COVID - 19
- TESOL : Tips to Avoid Zoombombing
- World Book and Copyright Day

In Arabic

- "Naseej" Publication: Towards an Arab Knowledgeable Society.
- A live online seminar "After 100 years. Languageless World" - Unified Arabic Index.
- Online seminar entitled "The Impact of Technological Developments in Enhancing Knowledge Services" Unified Arab Index.
- Uploading electronic Arabic books from Aljam3a-Library
<https://archive.org/details/aljam3alibrary>
- Making the Arab Educational Information Network (Shamaa), which is for specialists and those interested in education, available for users,
- Providing free online access to educational studies produced by Arab countries.

- Providing studies presented by researchers who published their studies on education in the Arab countries outside the Arab world, as well as studies done through "Shamaa" and published in international organizations. "Shamaa" documents articles published in refereed journals and university theses dating back to 2007, written in Arabic, French and English, providing for each study a bibliographical profile, a summary, and the full text of the thesis when available.
- Uploading in PDF format novels and books in Arabic on Islam, human development, philosophy, logic, and thousands of books on other topics: <https://www.noor-book.com>
